

PRIVACY POLICY

The materials on this website are intended for general informational purposes only and do not constitute consulting or legal advice on any matter. Meryl B. Rosenberg, Esq. assumes no responsibility for the timeliness or accuracy of any information provided herein as it relates specifically to you. Accordingly, the reader should not under any circumstances rely on or act on the basis of the materials provided on this website without further consultation. If the reader desires specific legal representation, please do contact our office directly.

Any electronic communication sent to The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg or its attorneys may not be secure and thus may be disclosed. Accordingly, we request that you do not send sensitive or confidential information electronically (unless otherwise specifically indicated for any surrogacy application, as noted below). In addition, the sending of electronic mail to any lawyer or other contact/address identified in the site does not create a lawyer client relationship, and the contents of any such mail are not privileged, unless the sender is a current client of The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and the communication is sent pursuant to that relationship.

The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and ARTparenting does not transmit personally identifying information to third parties other than those providing web administration services to Meryl B. Rosenberg such as web hosting, or unless specifically agreed upon by the sender. The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg does use aggregate information about those who access its site for the purpose of collecting marketing data and other business research. However, if you provide personally identifying information to The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and ARTparenting via the attorney contact form, email or other communication, The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and ARTparenting will not provide that information to any third parties without your permission. You may request the Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and ARTparenting delete your personal information from our records by calling our office at (301) 217-0074. You may also request that the Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg and ARTparenting make no future attempts to contact you by calling our office directly and we will only contact you if we believe we have a legal obligation to do so.

This site may contain links to websites of third parties. These links are provided solely as a convenience to you. The Office of Meryl B. Rosenberg does not control and is not responsible for these third party sites or for their content.